

NEW MANUSCRIPT / PROJECT / PRODUCT SUBMISSION

Hilton Publishing accepts manuscripts and project proposals for consideration of publication, marketing, distribution and/or owner partnership in the following book genres or product categories: health, wellness, fitness and exercise, healthy living, how-to and do-it-yourself books for better living, cookbooks, medical or health science, healthcare, patient health, educational and textbooks, motivational, mind/body/spirit, biographical, children's fiction and religious/spiritual.

To submit your new book or product for consideration, please complete our Manuscript Submission Guidelines (shown below) and return your completed submission to CustomProjects@hiltonpub.com.

- Reason for Submission: Consideration of publication of a book or other written work.
- Consideration of non-exclusive marketing/distribution of a published work.
- Consideration of exclusive partnership/ownership of a new product/technology.
- Consideration of participation in a federal NIH research/development grant submission.

Product/Project Title: _____

Description: _____

Author's/Owner's Name: _____

Mailing Address: _____

Mobile phone: _____

Home/Office Phone: _____

Nationality: _____

1. Author/Company Biography and Education / Company credentials and certifications.
2. Affiliations. Provide the names of any organizations to which you or your company are affiliated, including academic, professional, and/or government.
3. Previous books or other publication. List any books you have published, including title, publisher, year of publication and sales history if available.
4. About your book, product or grant project. Tell us more about it, what it's about, why you wrote or created it, the niche it fills, its subject, and key editorial points that make it unique.
5. Describe the ideal audience for your book.
6. Describe competitive products already for sale or available in the market? Please provide similarities and differences and any special elements they may have.
7. Sales and marketing. Provide us with the names of colleagues or other influential people within your field from whom we may solicit comments about your book, and names of magazines, journals, newspapers, or other media in which you think an ad might be effective. Provide the names of schools or professors that might be interested in using the book/product for course material, either as a textbook or as a supplemental text. For health-related products, please provide the types of medical institutions and areas of medicine in which the product would be useful and would sell well.
8. For NIH grant projects, provide the Centers/Institutes of NIH you feel would be interested in funding your project.

(219) 922-4868

CustomProjects@hiltonpub.com

www.hiltonpub.com

